FRIDAY, JAN. 4, 1907.

Last Friday 200 young men and women appeared before the examining board to be qualified to practice at the bar of the Commonwealth. Here is hoping that they will not avail themselves of the new law which allows bars to keep open until after 12 o'clock at midnight.

The Great and General Court is now organized for business and will go to work next Monday. There is the talk of expediting business and have a short session in the language of the immortal Henry of know of no way of judging the future but by the past and the legislature will be in session when the cows are eating clover in June.

A leading Boston daily in speaking of the date rate in that city says it has been reduced within the last few years from 85-90 per thousand each year to 15-20 and attributes the reduction to cleaner conscience. We congratulate Boston on its "cleaner conscience" and can show them something better in their rates, as ours for the same period has averaged a little less than 17.00 per thousand. Up to this time we have attributed it to a general favorable condition of a territory particularly favorable to hounds but will now call it conscience.

The dog has always been classed as man's best friend, of the animal kind, and there are numerous records of his faithfulness and devotion, yet there are times when we need to be protected from our friends, and in view of the alarm and even danger in many places, the selectmen have taken the precaution to safeguard the public against hounds, and on and after Monday next, all dogs running at large without muzzles will become targets for shooting officers. We like good dog and hope they will be cared for, but if this results in removing from amidst a lot of worthless mongrels which seem to belong nowhere and to nobody, it will be a good thing.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Howard Poole Obituary.
The girls' basketball team will play its first game of the season today in the gymnasium at 3 o'clock. The Colgate girls will be the opponents. A victory is expected.

As a token of the school's love and honor of Miss Burrside, a beautiful gift of a brush and comb set was given her before her departure from the Weymouth High. The honor of presentation fell on Miss Vesta Spend, the senior more class. Miss Eva H. Day of No. 200, has been appointed Miss Burrside's successor. She has charge of Room 13.

The senior class met before the Christmas vacation to make arrangements for the winter. A committee of seven was appointed to take charge of the winter meeting. Permission is obtained from the school committee who met Wednesdays afternoon and took over the situation. If permission is received, Friday, Jan. 12, is looked upon as a favorable time for the dance.

A movement is on foot to form a glee club at the High. At least fifty voices are needed. If one is formed, a public concert could be given in the hall sometime next spring.

Supt. of schools Almer A. Rydger, Misses Bertha Cunningham, 16, Mount Delyake 10, Sally Vining 16, Helen Richards, Margaret Sonja, 16, and Frank Curtis, Juniors—Anna Allen, Ethel Hart, Mary Hooper, Alice Kennedy, Harry Hill, Sophie Davis, Taylor, Ethel Courtney, Alice Shuey, and Gardner Allen. Freshmen—Esther Pickwick, Margaret Ringwall, Ethel Marsh, Helena Hobbs, Helen Richards, Robert Alvard, Warren Bates, Henry Drury, Louis Frederick, Harold Hawes, Theodore Torrey and Edgar Stiles.

The boys' basket ball team and substitutes will be photographed tomorrow at Cook's studio.

The honor list for the past two months is as follows. This list contains those students receiving 1 or more D's on their report cards. Senator—Lila Smith, Helen Richards, Margaret Sonja, Anna Allen, and Frank Curtis. Juniors—Anna Allen, Ethel Hart, Mary Hooper, Alice Kennedy, Harry Hill, Sophie Davis, Taylor, Ethel Courtney, Alice Shuey, and Gardner Allen. Freshmen—Esther Pickwick, Margaret Ringwall, Ethel Marsh, Helena Hobbs, Helen Richards, Robert Alvard, Warren Bates, Henry Drury, Louis Frederick, Harold Hawes, Theodore Torrey and Edgar Stiles.

The short lived class of 195 basket ball team has once more come together. It is the same winning team—Hurrell and Wheehan, forward; Sheely, center; and the Comidick brothers, backs. Last week at Harrel's skating rink, Weymouth, the team had defeated a Braintree team of apparent superiority. The fellows intend to stick together this winter, and anyone wishing to see clean, fast and scientific basket ball will do well to follow them up.

—Raymond, or

Mondays Club.
The next meeting of the Monday Club will be held in Old Fellow's Clubhouse, East Weymouth, next Monday afternoon. Miss Ellen C. Sawille, principal of the Hancock School, Boston, will speak on "The School City." Mr. Lewis H. Chantrey will be the soloist of the afternoon.

GIFTS TO A WIFE.

The Sentiment That Is Dear To The Heart Of A Woman.

In a recent divorce case the husband, when asked if he ever spoke his wife any Christian or birthday presents, replied:

"No, I am sorry to say I never did. I gave Mrs. — a pencil to draw a picture on, and a book, and a small amount of money, but I don't remember any gifts."

"I was mistaken. That was not all I said when I left home. That did not take the place of my buying things and taking them home to her."

It is astonishing how little even the majority of husbands know about the feminine nature. I recently heard a young wife say that she would rather have her husband buy her a bunch of roses than give her ten times the money they cost. She said she would never make him appreciate the fact that money was not all that she needed.

I know men who never think of taking home a bunch of flowers to their wives. They either think that if their wives receive flowers they can get them themselves. They do not realize that women prize the little courtesies, the little attentions, and evidences of thoughtfulness more than money. It is the invitation to the little outing or vacation, the little trip to another city, the bringing home of tickets to the theater or the opera, the little gift or favor that is the hundred and one little things that make the average woman happy and not merely the fact that her imperative wants are supplied to her.

In assembling the exhibits, especially those representing the varied industries and the liberal arts the managers of the exposition have been careful to select only such as show the latest and best attainments. In every line of industry, whether it be in the government and states building and pavilions, they will be of semi-permanent construction and in appointments will vary any similar group of buildings ever erected. In architecture they will all be of the colonnaded perches, forming an appropriate setting to the natural beauties of the environment.

Another attractive feature will be the government pleasure pier extending 2,000 feet into Hampton Roads. Another addition will be surrounded by a grand conservatory containing a large collection of tropical plants, rare and choice, including many species of orchids.

East Weymouth Office: Washburn Block, corner of Broad and Shawmut Streets.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT WEYMOUTH,
AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

FRIDAY, JAN. 11, 1907.

How would you like to be a dog these days? Most of them who are wearing uniforms look at you with a pleading face and seem to say, "Won't you please take me off?"

Two Tennessee members of Congress were separated from a first night by friends, on the floor of the House Wednesday. The blood of Weymouth is not quite as hot as that of Tennessee, and the combatants are confined to words.

What will pay future campaign expenses? If Senator Hayes' bill passes both branches of the Legislature and is signed by the Governor, it will cost the public corporations $5,000 in addition to the sum contributed and the individual who solicits $1,000.

Early in the session the Legislature is confronted with a bill to buy up some more of the unprofitable land of the western part of the State for "Park Reservation." This "Park Reservation" business has about reached its limit. Most of those schemes have been laid speculations which have landed onto the state property with its real valuation many times multiplied.

Old Colony Club.

The regular meeting of the Old Colony club was held January 10th. Mrs. Gordon White, the second vice-president, in the chair. In the absence of the recording secretary, Miss Frances Wheeler was appointed secretary pro tem.

Mrs. Main Simpson read a most instructive paper on current events, nothing particularly items of interest to women.

The lecture of the afternoon was given by Dr. Elizabeth Kendall, professor of literature at Wellesley College. A charming and vivid叙述者 described her trip from Springfield to Illinois in the fall.

Mr. George C. Trueblood will speak on "The Federation of the World." There will also be a harpsichord solo by Mr. William W. Walker.

Civil Service Examination.

A Special Civil Service examination will be held on the South Weymouth, Mass., post office on Jan. 15, 1907, Room 111, Post-office Building, Boston, Mass., at 10 o'clock a.m. to establish a register of eligibles for clerk (male and female) and carrier (male), from which one or more appointments are expected to immediately follow, and as the needs of the office require.

Applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 45 years, (except preference claimants under Section 1531 R. S., to whom the maximum age limit does not apply), and must be citizens of the United States.

Male applicants must measure not less than five feet, four inches in height, without shoes, and weigh at least 125 lbs., in ordinary clothing.

Eligibles who may subsequently tender an application will be required to furnish certificate of medical examination before entering on duty.

Lists of those who pass examinations are no longer posted in post offices, but information in regard to the registers and appointments can be secured upon application at any time.

For the required application form, and a pamphlet of general information containing specific instructions, apply to E. L. George, local secretary, at the office of, or Edward E. Stoddard, Secretary Board of Examiners, Post-office Building, Boston, Mass. Applications should be promptly filed out and filed with the latter no later than 4:30 p.m. Jan. 15, 1907.

CARD OF THANKS.

Appreciating the care shown by Lincoln and myself extended to me and my late son during his last sickness, and later at his death, and the trying days following by friends, neighbors, business associates, shopkeepers, kindred, relatives, and Python and Boston News, Nash and Cochran, I take this method to thank all my earnest friends and their thanks. Especially to Mr. and Mrs. Clark for kind words of comfort and consolation and his magnificence generosity; the beautiful floral tribute paid so plainly of the character of the deceased.

The good words spoken and the magnificence tributes of love and esteem will be held in grateful remembrance.

Industrial Committee.

JOINT INSTALLATION.
Sons of Veterans and Ladies' Auxiliary.

The Industrial committee held its regular monthly meeting at the rooms of the selectmen Monday evening. President A. P. Worthen was in the chair, and there was more than an average attendance.

The committee on transportation reported progress in having submitted the set of resolutions passed at the last meeting to the Railroad Commissioners, and also having the "turnaround" near Pratt schoolhouse, which was abandoned some time ago, replaced.

The subject for the evening's discussion was "The Schools of Weymouth" and the committee and superintendent were invited to be present. The president announced the subject and stated that the meeting was open for remarks.

H. B. Reel, chairman of the school board, called on the superintendent for some statements and Mr. Basler spoke to quite a length on what he was trying to do, the main idea being a consolidation of schools, the introduction of some new features, among them a kindergarten system and reduction of the grades from two to three, and a more thorough organization of piping.

D. M. Easton followed, suggesting that it would be a good idea to have a physical examination and have the scholars assigned to each studies as their heads and hands were adapted.

John F. Flanagan, who it was thought that he was best fitted for the office of superintendent, was installed.

Mrs. Flora Staples, M. I. officer of Wakefield, was the installing officer of the auxiliary, and Mrs. Anna Richards, past national vice-president, as guide, assisted her. The officers of the auxiliary were: Mrs. Jennie Blanchard, president; Mrs. Bertina Bodine, vice-president; Mrs. Hattie Fahey, treasurer; Mrs. Mary Flanagan, recording secretary; Miss Sally Hayes, chaplain; Miss Mabel Thayer, guide; Mrs. Fannie Pratt, assistant guide; Mrs. Nellie Whittington, 1st Vice-Marshal; Mrs. Charlotte Stoddard and Miss Hertha Rosing, trustees; Mrs. Bertha Dunbar and Mrs. James Howe, color bearer.

Are as a rule a "tray set."

In their maf bush to eat other some get hurt and some don't. At this store it's different;

although everybody is well to get at the bargains we offer no one gets hurt

our quick work was all that saved a serious fire. At six o'clock they were called out by an alarm from the same box, for fire at the house owned and occupied by the late L. Smith and son at 135

Washington Street. The house was caused by a quick fire which was pouring out from all over the house, but after an hour's work they had the blaze extinguished.

It was a very hard fire to handle as it got in between the partitions and was very difficult to locate. Mr. Smith and the members of his family are loud in their praise of the work of the department.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT WEYMOUTH,
MASS., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

FRIDAY, JAN. 18, 1907.

Mr. Moran is learning this week that it is expensive and unwise to "get hot" in a campaign and make statements which are not capable of being substantiated.

"Bob" Evans has demonstrated once more, and this time in the Jamaica disaster, that it is a good thing sometimes to go ahead and wait for your orders to follow you.

According to Prof. Eliot of Harvard the old form of town government with a small board of selectmen at the head is the best form to be used, and it is now up to the larger cities to adopt it. There are more expensive and less harmonious boards of municipal officers than Selectmen.

The Circuit court of the United States has decided that the law is neither a white man nor of African descent and consequently not entitled to citizenship in this country. Laws are capable of quiet construction and decisions, but the Superior or some other court may reverse the decision.

Senator Prouty of Worcester has given the Legislature a contract in a bill to reconsider the 12th Article of Boston's law regarding the liquor law. When this matter is settled the next time it should be with a constitutional amendment that it cannot be brought up again for fifty years.

The grand jury reported "no bill" against Senator Fahey for alleged improper use of public money in connection with the Lewis-Clark expedition. At the meeting of the Massachusetts Press Association held at the United States hotel on Monday, both Lt.-Gov. Draper and Mayor Fitzgerald were guests, spoke against law personalities and discussed statement in connection with campaigns and elections, and this reminds us that we are on the eve of a town campaign and already the air is being stirred with statements which it would be hard to substantiate. Let us have a good clean campaign, get the best officers we can, and give the town a good name.

Monday Club.

The next meeting of the Monday Club will be held in Old Fellow's opera house, East Weymouth, next Monday. Mrs. May L. Sheldon will give her famous lecture on Greece and a club social will follow the lecture.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

Proposing to Separate Plymouth and Norfolk Counties.

There is a bill to present to the Legislature this winter asking that a separate district attorney be elected for Plymouth and Norfolk counties. Heretofore one district attorney has conducted the business in each county, and at times the criminal trials have been so long that account of the increased population of both counties, that the district attorney is obliged to go from place to place to the other. At present there are two between Plymouth and Thomas J. Grover of Canton is the district attorney now, and Hon. A. F. Baker of Brockton is his assistant. The district attorney's salary is $2,500, while that of his assistant is $1,500, and the proposition now is to have a district attorney for Plymouth county at a salary of $1,000, and the assistant a salary of $1,000.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to thank the frequent of Ward 4 for the admirable manner in which they extinguished the fire in my house on Thursday evening, January 10th. The fire had worked its way from the furnace room through the floor above, and was, therefore, a difficult fire to attack; but within three minutes from the time of discovery, the firemen had reconnected the main water and had control. Under the direction of Chief J. Hubert Walsh perfect order was maintained and every man promptly and effectively did his part. No one was allowed to enter the house except the firemen. What seemed like a very destructive fire was remarkably well handled. Plenty of water was used, but only judiciously applied, so that it was absolutely necessary. My thanks are heartily extended to Mr. Walsh and his efficient associates for their valuable services and prompt assistance.

The Bread of Economy

Man works from sun to sun; woman's work is never done.
That saying "Time is money" is usually applied to man and his work, but how about the busy house-wife to whom time is so precious? Time is more than money to her, for she is doing things that cannot be measured by money standards.

For instance she spends hours in keeping up the bread supply for the home by baking every day or so, when she might just as well use and be money and hard work in. There is no better bread made than Best's, and it will please the family and save many a hard day's work. Price 10c. The family loaf 5c.

BEST'S CELEBRATED MILK BREAD

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES
The girls basketball team went to Abington last Friday afternoon and received a defeat at the hands of the Abington girls. They will try their luck again tomorrow at Cohasset. The Collected High girls will be the opponents.

The sophomore class has furnished the boys of the class basket ball team with new jerseys. They are crimson with old gold lettering.

Supt. Major A. Ulster visited school Wednesday morning and heard what the Weymouth High could do in the musical. He noted a decided improvement under the supervision of Miss Nash.

In accordance with the state law, Mr. Sampson began yesterday his tests of the visionary and hearing organs of the high school students. His work will continue a week or more.

For some time past there has been a great deal of grumbling over the fact that the fellas at the High school have always been obliged to go to Weymouth or South Weymouth for an athletic trial, or rather for one that they would be permitted to use. Possible relief to this situation came to Mr. Sampson Wednesday morning in the shape of a letter from Chairman H. H. Reed of the school committee. He has always been an ardent supporter of High School athletics and this time gives help by proposing to hire a plot of land within a stone's throw of the High school building and, if properly fixed, have a baseball field, a football field, and as the rays passed theuxity began to wear in on me in spite of my efforts to keep my courage up.

Ever since I became I had heard of an old negro sorceress who lived in a lonely spot some distance outside of the city and who was said to possess wonderful powers of divination and prophecy.

I drew back in moment in terror; then, regaining courage, I once more placed my eye to the window. This time I could see the sorceress, her form being that of a negro. Her black body was stretched rigid, motionless upon the floor. For a moment I gazed at her with a strange terror creeping over me and then again I drew my eye from the window. As I did so a mighty noise burst from the door and I sprang from the sofa to the door and, opening it, looked out. There was no one about. The voice had come apparently from the eaves. Could it not possibly have been the wind which was blowing hard today? No! I felt positive.

We were to be right on him this morning and the last words he said to me before he turned round to the KHTY were, "The KHTY the morning he said were, "The KHTY the morning he said were."

The KHTY Kely was expected to return to New Orleans in five months, but the five months lengthened themselves out into seven and still no tidings of the vessel had been received since she had left Rio on her return trip, and as the rays passed theuxity began to wear in on me in spite of my efforts to keep my courage up.

FRIDAY, JAN. 25, 1907.

The earthquake shocked Jamaica and then Sir Alexander Sweetenham shocked the world. Jamaica can be built up, but Sir Alexander, never.

Ex-Secretary of War, Alger, has gone to the "great beyond" and in going he would have done a good thing to have taken that scalped interview or embailed him with his instead of leaving it to be opened after his demise.

The time limit for new bills in the Legislature expired last Saturday and the uninitiated probably thought that that meant something, but it does not. The session of the rules began on Monday and has continued up to the time of writing, and a flood of new bills have been introduced under the direction of the hospitality committee. The next meeting will be held in the afternoon of Feb. 4, and will be known as a "sooty afternoon." Readings and debate will be given by home talent and the program promises a very interesting session of the club.

Monday Club.

The Monday club held its regular meeting in Old Fellow's opera house, East Weymouth last Monday afternoon. At a brief business session, Mrs. Mary L. Sheldon, who gave a very interesting lecture on Greece, illustrated by excellent photographs which were passed through the audience. Mrs. Sheldon spoke of some of the most interesting cities of the country which she visited last year, and of the climate and scenery and the customs of the people. The lecture was exceedingly instructive and listened to with marked attention by most of the ladies present. A club social followed the lecture with cake and coffee served under the direction of the hospitality committee. The next meeting will be held in the afternoon of Feb. 4, and will be known as a "sooty afternoon." Readings and debate will be given by home talent and the program promises a very interesting session of the club.

K. of C. Entertainment.

Weymouth Council No. 720, Knights of Columbus, presented one of the dramatic entertainments last Friday evening in Old Fellow's opera house, East Weymouth. It was entitled "Frigg" or, "Hold the Bookies." The affair was under the direction of Miss Annie Deane, and went off very well, showing excellent drilling and drillers, orchestra furnished music during the evening. The hall was well filled. Following is the cast:

Hank Jordan, a girl; Michael Kilroy; Nat Wehrer, a hero; John J. Land-Roun; Jack Hamlin, whose face I land-Roun; Nellie, a girl; Frank McCourt; Judge Anatolus Anatolius, who is all that his name implies; and a little more; W. T. Dowley, Huddieville Bill, who thinks there is money in salvation and salvation in money; Henry Nease; Zenos, proprietor of "The Root"; Senator Noland; Sooie Smith, all learning and looks; and Mrs. Robbie, Miss Nellie Regal; Miss Pendope Prim, with the accent on the Miss; Miss Anna Deane; Triss, the angel of Blue Canyon; Miss Polly Day.

For Tax Collector.

At the request of many prominent citizens, some of whom are closely connected with the welfare of the town, Mr. Joseph A. Cushing has consented to allow his name to be used as a candidate for the office of collector of taxes for the town of Weymouth. Mr. Cushing is a state legislator and a member of the House of Representatives.

He has not yet reached the north pole, but we hope to try to blow it through our schoolhouse and warm it up to 80 or 90 degrees as it passes. We are awaiting for all the germs and microbes that man ever thought of, and no "feller" can compete the coat.

Through the efforts of Hon. John W. Weeks, member of Congress for the 12th district, ninety-five hundred dollars ($9,500) have been placed in the River and Harbor Bill to complete the work in Weymouth. Back Yards, began several years ago. The survey and estimates of General Mansfield at one time brought the work to the wharf just below the rail-road station at East Weymouth, and while we have since lost some of the shore front on account of the Naval Magazine, it will be a good thing to have the work go on, and we may soon have the channel dredged and put at least at as good condition as it was in the old "Packet Days" when nearly all of our merchandise and products came and went by water.

Ladies Aid Anniversary, Dec. 9, A.D.O.H.
Odd Fellows' home, East Weymouth, the scene Wednesday night of the tenth anniversary of the Ladies Aid. The anniversary falls on Dec. 9, A.D.O.H. A temporary basket of fine salads, peanuts, ices, cakes, rolls and coffee was served in the dining hall by C. C. Whittemore caterer. The evening's program consisted of the following amateur entertainment: Overture; Mrs. J. H. Ochekwa; address, Mrs. Anna J. White; sketch, Richmond Bros.; "mandolin," Margarette Conners, John Coffey; address, Fr. Allison; solo, Polly Daly; finale, C. C. Whittemore.

After this entertainment, a dance of eleven numbers was arranged and put on by the girls.

Mr. Cushing will have no difficulty in securing a thirty-five thousand dollar bond, which is required by the town.

FROST BITES.

How They Should be Treated.

The effects of cold, if severe, are scarcely less dangerous than those of heat, though not so frequently met with, in this country at least. Probably the commonest form of frostbite is the ordinary chill, and its close resemblance to a burn is shown by the fact of a vesicle forming and leaving a sore behind it just as the part had been blanched. As the worst thing for a burn is to apply cold, so the worst thing for a frost-bite is to apply heat, and this is frequently seen in the case of persons who put their cold feet to the fire, and so produce the chilblains of which much has been made. A frost-bite must be treated as hot as possible, and the hand must be dried and wrapped in a dry cloth.

The next morning the people of Wicksbury wake up to see if the Yanks had come yet. At every corner groups of people are scared group of people gathered together for many months in Wicksbury.

Mr. Hamilton sat up late that night full of anticipation. If the Yankees came the negroes would run off and hide if they would run off to the Yankees. Brown, the big blunder, could not sleep that night, but he begged and paled at his chain with increasing vigor.

The next morning the people of Wicksbury wake up to see if the Yanks had come yet. At every corner groups of people were discussing the report and everything was being hurried. Men were getting guns and joining the city defenders. Cotton bales were being piled up at points which would cover the Yanks if they came.

The negroes worked as usual, but at short intervals they would look up from their work to see if anybody was coming.

The night passed quietly and on the morrow the people began to think the rumor a fraud.

"The Yanks are coming!" "Pleas, oh, you will shoo!" "Run children!" "Oh, John, don't leave me." Such were the cries that rang out that night when the patrol reported the Yanks in sight. Grant moved to the north of the city and became the size. He could not do anything here, so he moved south of the city. Now began the real edge.

As each day came, more and more negroes disappeared. All of Mr. Hamilton's wealth except Aunt Diana. One day Mr. Hamilton picked up the paper, and in a big head line read that the food was all gone and that there was storage.

"Diana, he called, "In God's name, will you stay?" Diana said, "I'll have we're bang, we're bang, the house is bang, bang, bang." "I don't think so," she replied.

Several days later went by, the food getting more scarce. "Misses Hamilton, all we've got in the house is a pound of beans, a pound of corn, and a pint of flour," she said.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynch left on a late train for New York city and other points of interest and will be at home after Feb. 1st at Charles street.

The Woman Or the Car

Ladd, the proprietor of the Tumtum-tum, shook his head with discouraging brusness.

"Sir," he declared decidedly, "I accommodate people here in automobile. First, I must say for the man, I don't know if I have one round ticket, seeing as the chauffeur, get gasoline, amphy, two other swallows, a woman, a man and a child."

With a rush of wind the storm broke.

A deafening thunderclap shook the earth. The rain, almost horizontal in the dying rain, drove a deluge of great drops under the hasty arranged covers.

"I'm going to get out!" shrilled a small seated voice. "I want to be in a house! Mamma, come!"

A tall figure shovelled Ladd upside down on a pair of shirt sleeves.

"Lady," he cried, "my love, tell me, is there a chance for--yes, yes, you are crying, dear?"

"My introduction," he began, "is intended to be a good one, but when he returns with his automobile, I have been misinformed."

Her eyes shone into his as he strained, eager, transformed with a sudden joy.

"Lady," he cried, "my love, tell me, is there a chance for--yes, yes, you are crying, dear?"

"My introduction," he began again, "is intended to be a good one, but when he returns with his automobile, I have been misinformed."

Her eyes shone into his as he strained, eager, transformed with a sudden joy.
